This is my least favorite of the Greed Series. The game had better puzzles than the others, I will give it that. However, it makes significantly less sense than the other games to me. For example, I did one of the hidden object puzzles, and it gave me a drill and a screwdriver. Huh? Those weren't any of the objects I searched for in the list, and they weren't anywhere in the scene! Also, the plot moves to the ridiculous side of things. And the characters are a bit over the top and one dimensional. Also, I actually yelled at the game. It asked me to find an oil can to perform a task that needed a small amount of oil. It was removed from my inventory. A couple of screens later, I needed a can of oil ... like the one I just had! Oh, and more spiderwebs that require cleaning, like with the re-usable rag I discarded not a minute ago. Oh, and I need another knife. Didn't I just have one of those, too?! I mean the near exact same task minutes after discarding the item? Several times in a row? It made the game seem very repetitive and frustrating. Thus, I cannot recommend it, and that is entirely my personal opinion. Others may feel differently
